K.A.V.A. stands for Knowledge Above Violence Always and is a group by and for Pacific Men to find support. K.A.V.A. Talks provides a safe space for men to be vulnerable and educated in order to make better decisions for themselves that will ultimately benefit all those around them. This is a necessary space for our men who aren't always afforded the opportunity to be vulnerable and receive advice and encouragement.

October is designated as Domestic Violence Awareness Month. Our walk in heels is a demonstration of support and solidarity of all those who have been victims and survivors of Domestic Violence.

Each year we offer the opportunity for men and all others in the community to gather and find resources and educational tools from local advocacy organizations with various services available that can aid those currently experiencing or recovering from Domestic Violence including legal aid, support groups, employment opportunities, funding, and so much more.
